have twenty-four hours' notice of my arrival at Fon-tainebleau. I am impatient to see you again. , 22d. (To the Empress.) Dear friend: I start in one hour; I shall reach Fontainebleau on the 26th or 27th; you may go there with a few of your ladies.

26th, Fontainebleau:

I have arrived; it is ten o'clock in the morning. The weather is lovely.

November 23d, Paris:

(To General Clarke.) Summon a council of the Guard to go over the accounts and get it into shape for the Spanish campaign. I propose going to Spain with nearly 25,000 men. I want the Guard all ready to start about the 15th of January.

30th. The divorce question.

(To Josephine.) Will you do it of your own free will, or won't you ? My mind is made up!

December 1st. Josephine sent me word that she consented. As we were sitting down to dinner she suddenly uttered a cry and fainted.

3d. I have annexed Tuscany to the Empire. Its people are worthy of it because of their good character and of the attachment their forefathers have always shown us, and of the services they have rendered to European civilization.

(To the Empress.) I am going to Paris, dear friend. I want to hear that you are happy. I shall see you some time this week. I have received your letters which I shall read in the carriage.

15th. (To Prince Cambaceres.) My Cousin: We have ordered the convocation of a privy council to be held
